SeaDragon Achieves Halal Certification

New Zealand's largest refiner and blender of high quality fish oils and fractions, SeaDragon Limited (NZX: SEA) has attained Halal certification, for both its facilities, following audit by The Federation of Islamic Associations of New Zealand (Inc.) (FIANZ).

Obtaining Halal certification was a prerequisite requirement for one of the large customers we have been negotiating with. It is also preferred by many of our other key customers and opens up several markets where Halal is a market access requirement.

This certification means that SeaDragon fish oil products have been formally certified by FIANZ as fulfilling the conditions required to be classified as Halal, in terms of product source, manufacturing process and contamination control. It also further demonstrates the commitment of SeaDragon to manufacture Omega-3 of the highest quality and integrity.

In addition to Halal Certification, SeaDragon operates under New Zealand Ministry of Primary Industry RMP, and has Marine Stewardship Council (MSC) Chain of Custody for Sustainability and is a proud member of the Global Organisation for EPA and DHA (GOED) and the International Fish Meal and Fish Oil Organisation (IFFO).

The two Nelson facilities meet all current requirements for export of product to our major markets of South-East Asia, the EU, USA, Canada, Japan, China and Australia.
